

The concluding statement reiterated that WARDC is strongly advising the government of Nigeria to “guarantee access to safe abortion services within the existing law.”

Our report on these facts is based on our belief that Development and Peace is obviously very much involved, as are so many other organizations, in the progression of the abortion agenda around the world.

Judie Brown, who is a member of the Pontifical Academy for Life at the Vatican, made several comments to the press on the subject of the Canadian Catholic Organization for Development and Peace. “In order to confirm any concerns we might have... we engaged the services of a researcher to independently investigate the reports that have been posted... direct evidence from the web sites of the abortion groups in question showed their advocacy.” Miss Brown stated as well that it was amazing that even after Development and Peace made an “inquiry” into their Mexican partners, they continue to insist that there is nothing going on. She made the comment that: “something is clearly wrong; there is indeed a bit of double-talk going on, and that does suggest corruption to us.”

On June 9th, the Bishops Conference of Peru wrote a letter asking that all funding by Canadian Catholics to Development and Peace be halted. The “formal” request states that, “It is very disturbing to have groups which work against the Bishops of Peru by attempting to undermine legal protection for the right to life of unborn children, be funded by our brother Bishops in Canada.” The letter was signed by Archbishop Jose Eguren, President of the Family, Childhood and Life Commission (Family Commission) of the Peruvian Bishops Conference. The Archbishop said that his organization investigated groups supported by Development and Peace and found three of them to be pro-abortion. He continued to say that, “Each group either explicitly endorses abortion, and/or contraception, either by name or by its various euphemisms like ‘sexual and reproductive rights’ or some derivation thereof.”

We promote the culture of life

Thomas Collins, the Archbishop of Toronto, has stated that he will hold all funds that were donated through the “ShareLife” program until the situation of Development and Peace is rectified. He was later joined by Archbishop J. Michael Miller of Vancouver and Archbishop Brendan O’Brian of Kingston.

Human Life International (HLI), the Catholic Family and Human Rights Institute (CFAM), the Latin American Alliance for the Family (ALAF), Priests for Life, and the American Life League, are all urging the Bishops of Canada to investigate the evidence that states just how corrupt Development and Peace has become.

This is necessary if we are to indeed purge ourselves of the evil that we have so far accepted, abet unknowingly. We, the Pilgrims of St. Michael, encourage the Canadian Catholic Bishops as well, to recognize Development and Peace for what the facts have presented them to be. They have taken advantage of the Church, using her good will and Christian spirit as a means to undermine the culture of life.

This is a betrayal of the willingness that the Catholic Church has always had to help our needy brothers and sisters around the world. A charitable organization that does not have utter transparency could never be supported by the Church. Development and Peace has used these opportunities to exploit the generosity of our Church leaders and the people of faith in Canada.

The Pilgrims of St. Michael, as lay Catholic missionaries, have upheld the Church’s position against injustice, misery and poverty, euthanasia, homosexuality, and of course abortion, etc., for over 70 years. Beyond that, we dedicate ourselves to educating the population about their social freedoms and the implementation of the Social Doctrine of the Catholic Church in our society and country. The Pilgrims of St. Michael have been spreading millions of our free leaflets promoting the culture of life in the U.S.A., Canada, and around the world.

All this has been accomplished through the support of the many benefactors that assist us in the fight for these essential liberties. God gave us a free will to make our own choices, and you, dear reader, where do you stand in the battle of the culture of life and death?

A Global currency for a “New World Order”

In March of 2009, China’s central bank proposed an international reserve currency in view of the shaky status of the American dollar. China has a right to worry because of the billions of dollars they have invested in U.S. trade. The inflationary tactics being used by President Obama as he attempts to “stimulate” the American markets by pouring new money into circulation is only resulting in the speedy death of the American dollar.

Zhou Xiaochuan, the central bank’s governor in China, said that this reserve currency would be “disconnected from individual nations and is able to remain stable in the long run, thus removing the inherent deficiencies caused by using credit-based national currencies”. On June 7, 2009, the president of the World Bank, Robert Zoellick, issued a statement saying that China’s requests could be the turning point for a global recovery.

G20 Meeting in London, England

The last G20 meeting in London, England, gave birth to the creation of $250 billion in a new currency entitled, “special drawing rights” (or SDR), which is a new form of “basket” currency that will now be used by the International Monetary Fund. It is interesting to note that this currency is not owned by any single country, but was voted into circulation by the G20 leaders and the IMF.

The (role of the SDR) “serves as the light in the tunnel for the reform of the international monetary system,” Zhou Xiaochuan said in April of this year. He continued, “The price is becoming increasingly high, not only for the user’s, but also for the issuer’s of the reserve currencies. A super-sovereign reserve currency not only eliminates the risks inherent in a credit-based currency such as the dollar – in contrast to one backed by gold – but also makes it possible to manage global liquidity. This will significantly reduce the risks of a future crisis and enhance crisis management capability.”

In the documents released by the world leaders after the G20 Summit, there was a statement that said, “There is now a world currency in waiting. In time, SDRs are likely to evolve into a parking place for the foreign holdings of central banks, led by the People’s Bank of China.” And, “The creation of a Financial Stability Board looks like the first step towards a global financial regulator.” By this they mean a global bank.

During the G20 Summit, the major theme that was discussed was the implementation of greater policing by the International Monetary Fund. World leaders also granted greater power to the IMF, stating that in this way, there were less chances of another economic crisis such as the one we are now experiencing. We know from reading the MICHAEL Journal that this is not the case. The lending at interest that is advocated by the IMF is the very reason for our financial crisis.

Gordon Brown is among those who are pushing to see “the IMF reformed to become a ‘global central bank’ closely monitoring the international economy and financial system.”

In October of 2008, Gordon Brown wrote a piece for the Washington Post in which he elaborated this idea. “This week, European leaders came together to propose the guiding principles that we believe should underpin this new Bretton Woods: transparency, sound banking, responsibility, integrity and global governance. We agreed that urgent decisions implementing these principles should be made to root out the irresponsible and often undisclosed lending at the heart of our problems. To do this, we need cross-border supervision of financial institutions; shared global standards for accounting and regulation; a more responsible approach to executive remuneration that rewards hard work, effort and enterprise but not irresponsible risk-taking; and the renewal of our international institutions to make them effective early-warning systems for the world economy.”

The pyramid of debt that the IMF and the World Bank have created is crushing the entire world. Increasing the debts and lending more money to each country will only enslave them further, and the International Bankers know that very well. In Canada, $75 billion dollars were poured into the economy in such a way that the Canadian people were not even aware it was happening. In the United States Obama’s $800 billion dollar stimulus package only reinforced the already astronomical debt the American people are suffering under. This forces a dramatic inflation, causing the devaluation of currency and accelerating the crisis.

The Economic Times published an article saying that, “The world is not yet ready for an international reserve currency, but is ready to begin the process of shifting to such a currency. Otherwise, it would remain too vulnerable to the hegemonic nation.” Later The Economic Times again stated: “the world certainly needs an international currency.”

New Technologies – A hidden danger

RFID chips: Microchips are being imposed on the population for medical purposes, inventory of products, and as a means of guaranteeing the safety of cashless transactions. But we all know that the purpose of this technology is to track every person and item on the planet.

Genetic Engineering: GMO foods are being forced on countries by the World Trade Organization as a means of controlling food through corporations. GMO foods currently flood the market, causing disease and sickness.

Synthetic Biology: Chemical warfare looms on the horizon, with many countries now in control of various biological weapons. Poisons, venoms, and disease are all potential means of causing the destruction of entire nations. (70 pgs.) $7.00 including shipping. DVD (2hrs.) $12.00 including shipping.

Lightning, death, judgement and conversion

On May 5th, 1995, something extraordinary happened to Dr. Gloria Polo Ortiz, a dentist from Bogota, Colombia. She was taking shelter from a storm with her nephew, when both of them were struck by lightning. What happened to her afterwards was a miracle that led to her conversion and to a life of abandonment to the will of God.

She tells her story in many different countries around the world, and has the approval of her diocese in Bogota, Colombia, and her spiritual director. Her testimony is an inspiration for all of us, and will increase our faith in Christ Jesus and His Holy Catholic Church. (42 pgs.) $5.00 including shipping.
